

3.4 Plagiarism

(Revised 11/3/2023)

Plagiarism in any form is not tolerated in the School of Nursing.

Plagiarism includes copying/buying or appropriating others' work and claiming it as your own. It also includes self-plagiarism*, defined as copying your work from previous assignments and claiming it as new, original work. This includes citing Artificial Intelligence (AI) appropriately.

Any plagiarism will result in a score of "0" on the assignment and may include a course failure and/or dismissal from the program. The incident may also be referred to The Office of Student Conduct and Intervention. <https://www.utt Tyler.edu/sci/>

 Some courses will specifically ask you to turn in multiple iterations of the same assignment. When this is part of the assignment, it is not considered self-plagiarism.*
